

STABLE VIEW PARTNERSHIPS - BARB GOULD USKUP:

FIND AIKEN HOMES & FARMS

Barb Gould Uskup is one of Aiken's leading real estate agents. As an avid equestrian, she specializes in equestrian farms and land. She has been in the real estate industry for over twenty years. She has built her two of her own equestrian paradises. One being a show jumping facility in Lake Forest, Illinois and the other being a polo facility in Aiken. This means she also has personal experience with building the equestrian dream property, if that is the route you're interested in. As an equestrian herself, she brings her knowledge of real estate and horses to the table to help you find your next home.

Barb was asked how she got started in real estate. She said, "When I realized many years ago that many Realtors don't have a good grasp of horse farms and selling them I decided to take my education and sales experience with Procter and Gamble and Johnson and Johnston, and my advertising experience with J Walter Thompson Advertising along with my knowledge of farms and horses and put them together to provide the best service possible to people searching for a home for themselves and their four-legged children!"

Regarding her equestrian background, she began riding at age two. She received a pony named Cookie from her father for her second birthday. She became interested in the Hunter/Jumper discipline. She shared, "I rode with many top H/J trainers and along the way was blessed to have some lessons with some dressage trainers as well. I competed in Grand Prixes all across the US and was third in the AGA Rookie of the Year in 1990. In my early 40's my ex-husband introduced me to polo (hockey on horseback)-can you say adrenaline much?"

Barb has been a long-time supporter of Stable View. She said, "Stable View provides me with a venue to market myself to multiple disciplines as they have shows and special events for dressage, eventing, and the hunter/jumpers as well."
